Shanda Miller

Fast-tracking leadership skills for local government leaders who want to flourish in work and life.

Debunk the myth that leaders are born.

Leaders are molded, not born

As a natural introvert, Shanda K. Miller had to learn the necessary skills to be a team leader. Frustrated with a lack of structure, systems or processes to complete projects on time and on budget, she became determined to lead her team differently. Now she shares her successful system with other local government leaders enabling them to reach goals faster, within budget and with less stress, overwhelm and overtime.

LEAD PRODUCTIVE THRIVING TEAMS

Less stress. Happier teams. Confident leaders. That's the dream of every government leader. The problem is, many supervisors and managers find themselves in leadership roles without the tools and training they need to inspire their team to serve the public at the highest level.

Shanda Miller teaches government leaders, supervisors, and managers how to implement a powerful leadership strategy and start getting extraordinary results.
